The three vessels selected as colliers have started already on their way to Newport News to take on a large supply of coal. It will require about a week to get this down to Sampson's fleet, so if the start is to be made from that point it will be im-

away before the 4th of July. First Time In History.

This would seem to be an auspicious date for the beginning of an expedition that will, for the first time in the world's history, start from the New World to attack continental Europe. No attempt is made to deny that the government is influenced in ordering this movement by a desire to check the progress eastward of the Cadiz fleet.

The determination to send this squadron against Spain was the outcome of direct official advices which reached the state and navy departments as to the progress of Admiral Camara's squadron. These advices give a list of the Spanish ships new nearing the Suez canal, which differs some from the list given in the press dispatches. The official list is as

The additional information comes from official sources that this squadron is at Port Said and expects to take on board 10,000 tons of coal before entering the Suez canal.

Such heavy coaling will take some time. This squadron is the most formidable Spain has afloat, in total tonnage, strength of individual ships, armor and guns. The Pelayo and Carlos V are the strongest of the ships and the former is the only battleship in the Spanish navy.

It is apparent from this that the main reliance of his fleet is on the battleship Pelayo, the armored cruiser Carlos V. and the two new torpedo boat destroyers Audaz and Osada. The others are auxiliaries and colliers. As there are only two armored ships in the lot, Admiral Dewey's fleet of protected but unarmored ships probably will take care of this Spanish squadron. With the Monterey added, he could certainly do

The eastern squadron, which the United States will now send against Spain, far outranks this Spanish squadron, the Iowa and Oregon exceeding the the Pelayo and Carlos V at every point, while the other United States vessels are far superior, ship for ship to those of the Spanish squadron with the single exception of the two Spanish torpedoboat destroyers.

One short telegram received by General Greely from one of his signal corps officers with the army under Shafter was all that came to the war department yesterday. That related entirely to the management of telegraph and contained no news as to the movements of the military. Therefore, it is asmmed at the department that General Shafter is simply carrying forward his troops from the sea coast oud concentrating them at points of vantage on the heights surrounding Santiago. His army is not to give battle until every precaution that prudence can suggest has been taken to assure the success of the movement for no one better than General Shafter appreciates the tremendous moral advantage that would send an American squadron to the accrue to Spain from even a temporary

London, June 28 .- The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The minister of war, General Correa, expects the first Spanish reinforcements to reach Santiago today. The report is confirmed that the Spanish troops at Guantanamo are marching to attack the American rear guard there. There is also a movement of other troops throughout the whole of Eastern Cuba in order to carry out a concerted plan of action. "It seems also to be the general belief

The announcement that an American squadron is coming to Spain excites very little attention. All the available men of war have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness.

The harbors are mostly protected by torpedoes, and the various garrisons have been reviewed as to their efficiency.

Believed to Be Necessary at Santiago de Cuba.

Juragua, June 26, via Kingston, June 28 .- Some of the officers of the invading army believe it will be necessary to lay a regular siege to Santiago and advance with a line of earthworks until the rifle pits can be shelled with shrapnel by the light artillery. These pieces have an effective shrapnel range of 2,800 yards, and the Mauser rifles in the hands of the Spaniards are sighted to 1.900 yards and they kill to 2,100 yards.

However gratifying to the national pride is the careless attitude of our enlisted men, the grave fear remains that they may need a more severe lesson than the ambush of the rough riders before they realize the deadly possibilities of modern warfare. The outlook is threatening. Everybody believes a great battle is imminent. With the Spanish and American advance posts almost close enough to see the whites of each others' eyes a collision may occur at any moment.

To Be Frightened Into Making Peace. London, June 28.—The Washington correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "Spain is to be frightened into making peace. Four columns of smoke were seen at sun down advancing toward the mouth of the harbor and two small boats, believed to be torpedoboat destroyers, were observed in the neighborhood of the snnken collier Merrimac. Consequently Rear Admiral Sampson ordered extra precautions to be taken. The torpedoboats Ericeson and Porter stood very close into the harbor all night but no ships came out.

The additional information comes from official sources that this squadron is at Port Said and expects to take on board 10,000 tons of coal before entering the Suez canal. Such heavy coaling will take some time.

This squadron is the most formidable Spain has afloat, in total tonnage, strength of individual ships, armor and guns. The Pelayo and Carlos V are the strongest of the ships and the former is the only battleship in the Spanish navy.

It is apparent from this that the main reliance of his fleet is on the battleship Pelayo, the armored cruiser Carlos V, and the two new torpedo boat destroyers Audaz and Osada. The others are auxiliaries and colliers. As there are only two armored ships in the lot, Admiral Dewey's fleet of protected but unarmored ships probably will take care yesterday. Off Santiago de Cuba, June 26, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 28 .- It is believed Admiral Cervera contemplated making a dash out of the harbor last night. Four columns of smoke were seen at sun down advancing toward the mouth of the harbor and two small boats, believed to be torpedoboat destroyers, were observed in the neighborhood of the snnken collier Merrimac.

Consequently Rear Admiral Sampson ordered extra precautions to be taken. The torpedoboats Ericeson and Porter stood very close into the harbor all night but no ships came out.

THE INDULGENT FATHER.

An Account of One That Colonel Calliper Knew In Storkville Center, Vt.

"Speaking of indulgent fathers," said Colonel Calliper, "reminds me of an old friend of mine named Silas Zingtock, who formerly lived in Storkville Centre, Vt. Once when his little son Rufus wanted very much to fly a kite at a time when he was not well enough to be permitted to go out Mr. Zingtock rigged up a contrivance whereby the youngster's desire could be gratified in the house. He set up a blower in the back parlor, belted it to an engine in the cellar below, and when everything was all ready he started the fan and produced a current of air that was ample to float a kite.

"It was great fun for young Rufus to sit in the back parlor and fly his kite in the front, and for a time everything went all right, but on an unfortunate day Rufy, not satisfied with the amoun of wind the fan was blowing, undertool to make it blow harder, which is some thing that Mr. Zingtock had expressly forbidden. It seems that the blower and larger than were needed to produce a reeze sufficient to float a kite here, but Mr. Zingtock, who, though rich, was also thrifty, had had a chance to buy this plant second hand cheaper than a new plant of smaller size would have cost, and so he took it and had it set up, and every morning he used to adjust t so that it would not go above a certain speed, and several times he had autioned his son never to touch it. "About one minute after Rufus did buch it on this morning when he wanted it to blow harder the big fan was going at a gait that set up a hurricane in the parlors. It blew the kite against one of the windows and broke that the first thing, and within a minute the pictures were off the walls and their glasses smashed, tables were upset, bric-a-brac J. R. Dunlap and Ward Salmond, of was knocked into flinders, and the whole parlor was a wreck, with the big blower going at top speed and churning everything there into fragments and plowing the debris out of the windows. "That ended the father's indulgence."

NEW ORLEANS POLITENESS.

Eight Men Help a Stranger to Find a House at Night.

"I was given a good example of southern politeness the other night," said a gentleman from the north. "I had gone cort a lady home. She was also a stranger in the city and was stopping with some friends on Bourbon street, about three blocks the other side of the opera house. As it was only a short distance we decided to walk. I was of course totally unacquainted with the street and when we left the lights of the opera nouse I felt very much at sea. The nouses were dark and I could not see the numbers, and it was only by the number that the lady could identify her poarding place, as she had only been there once

"Ahead of me was a small man. asked him if he knew where the number was. He answered very politely that he did not, but was going that way and would help me hunt. He told an other man in front of him about it, and that man told some of his friends. In a few minutes the gentlemen had formed an advance guard in our interest. We walked calmly behind while they went son. in front, on either side of the street, striking matches and looking for the number. There were eight of them, and their matches would go off one after th other. It was a regular flambeau parade.

In some places the retail druggists are organizing for the purpose of requiring the manufacturers of proprietary medicines to bear their just portion of the war revenue on their own products. It is claimed that the manufacturers of patent medicines are so manipulating their business since the revenue bill passed, that they will make a handsome increase over their former big profits.

The department responded but before they were on the ground the building was all ablaze, so that little could be done but save the surrounding buildings. THE INDULGENT FATHER.

An Account of One That Colonel Calliper Knew In Storkville Center, Vt. "

"Speaking of indulgent fathers," said old friend of mine named Silas Zingtock, who formerly lived in Storkville Centre, Vt. Once when his little son Rufus wanted very much to fly a kite at a time when he was not well enough to be permitted to go out Mr. Zingtock rigged up a contrivance whereby the oungster's desire could be gratified in the house. He set up a blower in the back parlor, belted it to an engine in the cellar below, and when everything was all ready he started the fan and produced a current of air that was ample to float a kite.

"It was great fun for young Rufus to sit in the back parlor and fly his kite in the front, and for a time everything went all right, but on an unfortunate day Rufy, not satisfied with the amoun of wind the fan was blowing, undertook to make it blow harder, which is some thing that Mr. Zingtock had expressly forbidden. It seems that the blower and the boiler and machinery were all much larger than were needed to produce a breeze sufficient to float a kite here, but Zingtock, who, though rich, was also thrifty, had had a chance to buy this plant second hand cheaper than a new plant of smaller size would have cost, and so he took it and had it set up, and every morning he used to adjust it so that it would not go above a certain speed, and several times he had cautioned his son never to touch it.

"About one minute after Rufus did touch it on this morning when he wanted it to blow harder the big fan was go ing at a gait that set up a hurricane in the parlors. It blew the kite against one of the windows and broke that the first thing, and within a minute the pictures were off the walls and their glasse smashed, tables were upset, bric-a-brac was knocked into flinders, and the whole parlor was a wreck, with the big blower going at top speed and churning everything there into fragments and blowing the debris out of the windows.

"That ended the father's indulgence." -New York Sun.

NEW ORLEANS POLITENESS Eight Men Help a Stranger to Find

House at Night. "I was given a good example of south ern politeness the other night," said a gentleman from the north. "I had gone to the Comas ball and had agreed to escort a lady home. She was also a stranger in the city and was stopping with some friends on Bourbon street, about three blocks the other side of the opera house. As it was only a short distance we decided to walk. I was of course totally unacquainted with the street and when we left the lights of the oper ionse I felt very much at sea. The houses were dark and I could not see the numbers, and it was only by the number that the lady could identify her boarding place, as she had only been "Ahead of me was a small man.] asked him if he knew where the number was. He answered very politely that he did not, but was going that way and would help me hunt. He told another man in front of him about it, and that man told some of his friends. In a few minutes the gentlemen had formed an advance guard in our interest. We walked calmly behind while they went in front, on either side of the street, striking matches and looking for the number. There were eight of them, and their matches would go off one after the other. It was a regular flambeau parade.

I was overcome. 'Here it is,' shouted an advance scout. "We approached the house rapidly and found the eight gentlemen standing before it. It was almost with emotion that I raised my hat and thanked them for their efforts. 'Nothing at all,' they said politely, and the entire eight raised their hats and walked into the dark ness."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

One of the ideal vacation trips is a visit to the seashore. Persons who may have participated in that enjoyment are yearly anxious to repeat the experience To those who may not have been that fortunate, a dip in the ocean, a stroll along the sandy beach, and the myriads of pleasures at the disposal of the summeridler by the sea, have a pecular charm. The largely patronized general excursions inaugurated last season by the Pennsylvan'a lines from principal points in Ohio and Indiana brought out that fact. The announcement that the Pennsylvania system will this summer again run special low rate excursions to the seashore will no doubt be welcome information to persons who may wish to spend highly enjoyable vacations

The additional information comes from official sources that this squadron is at Port Said and expects to take on board 10,000 tons of coal before entering the Suez canal.

This squadron is the most formidable Spain has afloat, in total tonnage, strength of individual ships, armor and guns. The Pelayo and Carlos V are the strongest of the ships and the former is the only battleship in the Spanish navy.

It is apparent from this that the main reliance of his fleet is on the battleship Pelayo, the armored cruiser Carlos V, and the two new torpedo boat destroyers Audaz and Osada. The others are auxiliaries and colliers. As there are only two armored ships in the lot, Admiral Dewey's fleet of protected but unarmored ships probably will take care of this Spanish squadron. London, June 28 .- The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The minister of war, General Correa, expects the first Spanish reinforcements to reach Santiago today. The announcement that an American squadron is coming to Spain excites very little attention. All the available men of war have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness. The harbors are mostly protected by torpedoes, and the various garrisons have been reviewed as to their efficiency.

REGULAR SEIGE.

Believed to Be Necessary at Santiago de Cuba.

Juragua, June 26, via Kingston, June 28 .- Some of the officers of the invading army believe it will be necessary to lay a regular siege to Santiago and advance with a line of earthworks until the rifle pits can be shelled with shrapnel by the light artillery. These pieces have an effective shrapuel range of 2,800 yards, and the Mauser rifles in the hands of the Spaniards are sighted to 1,900 yards and they kill to 2,100 yards.

However gratifying to the national pride is the careless attitude of our enlisted men, the grave fear remains that they may need a more severe lesson than the ambush of the rough riders before they realize the deadly possibilities of modern warfare. The road over which the ordnance must be brought is

But very little danger is apprehended of a flank attack, as it is ev- time and they will be fitted out at once. ident General Linares is acting strictly on the defensive. The failure of the Spanish troops at Holguin, Manzanillo and Guantanamo to effect a junction with him has left the Spanish commander so weak that it would be an act of insanity upon his part to attempt to assume the aggressive or to retreat. Problem Confronting the Army.

The Spaniards are using brass sheathed lead bullets, and the brass rips on touching and tears the flesh horribly, while the small brass splinters cause blood poisoning. They are practically explosive and are used in the Remingtons. They also cut a small cross through the end of the Mauser bullet, so that it mushrooms on striking, with a similar

The outlook is threatening. Every-body believes a great battle is imminent. With the Spanish and American advance posts almost close enough to see the whites of each others' eyes a collision may occur at any moment.

CERVERA'S SQUADRON.

Believed It Was Trying to Escape From

Santiago. Off Santiago de Cuba, June 26, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 28 .- It is believed Admiral Cervera contemplated making a dash out of the harbor last night. Four columns of smoke were seen at sun down advancing toward the mouth of the harbor and two small boats, believed to be torpedoboat destroyers, were observed in the neighborhood of the sunken collier Merrimac. Consequently Rear Admiral Sampson ordered extra precautions to be taken. The torpedoboats Ericeson and Porter stood very close into the harbor all night but no ships came out.

Shortly after midnight the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius fired three guncotton shells in the direction of Morro castle. They exploded on the ridge and behind the eastern bills. The damage done is not known. The blockade continued without other incidents.

"Speaking of indulgent fathers," said Colonel Calliper, "reminds me of an old friend of mine named Silas Zing-tock, who formerly lived in Storkville Centre, Vt. Once when his little son Rufus wanted very much to fly a kite at a time when he was not well enough to be permitted to go out Mr. Zingtock rigged up a contrivance whereby the oungster's desire could be gratified in the house. He set up a blower in the back parlor, belted it to an engine in the cellar below, and when everything was all ready he started the fan and produced a current of air that was imple to float a kite.

"It was great fun for young Rufus to sit in the back parlor and fly his kite in the front, and for a time everything went all right, but on an unfortunate day Rufy, not satisfied with the amount of wind the fan was blowing, undertook to make it blow harder, which is some thing that Mr. Zingtock had expressly forbidden. It seems that the blower and the boiler and machinery were all much larger than were needed to produce a breeze sufficient to float a kite here, but Mr. Zingtock, who, though rich, was Iso thrifty, had had a chance to buy this plant second hand cheaper than a new plant of smaller size would have cost, and so he took it and had it set up, and every morning he used to adjust t so that it would not go above a cer tain speed, and several times he had cautioned his son never to touch it.

"About one minute after Rufus did touch it on this morning when he wanted it to blow harder the big fan was go ng at a gait that set up a hurricane in the parlors. It blew the kite against one of the windows and broke that the first thing, and within a minute the pictures were off the walls and their glasses smashed, tables were upset, bric-a-bra was knocked into flinders, and the whole parlor was a wreck, with the big plower going at top speed and churning everything there into fragments and plowing the debris out of the windows. "That ended the father's indulgence." -New York Sun.

NEW ORLEANS POLITENESS. Eight Men Help a Stranger to Find House at Night.

"I was given a good example of southern politeness the other night," said a gentleman from the north. "I had gone to the Comas ball and had agreed to escort a lady home. She was also a stranger in the city and was stopping with some friends on Bourbon street, about three blocks the other side of the opera house. As it was only a short distance we decided to walk. I was of course totally unacquainted with the street and when we left the lights of the opera house I felt very much at sea. The houses were dark and I could not see the numbers, and it was only by the number that the lady could identify her boarding place, as she had only been

"Ahead of me was a small man. asked him if he knew where the number was. He answered very politely that he did not, but was going that way and would help me hunt. He told another man in front of him about it, and that man told some of his friends. In a few minutes the gentlemen had formed an advance guard in our interest. We walked calmly behind while they went in front, on either side of the street, striking matches and looking for the number. There were eight of them, and their matches would go off one after the other. It was a regular flambeau parade. I was overcome. 'Here it is,' shouted an advance scout.

"We approached the house rapidly and found the eight gentlemen standing before it. It was almost with emotion that I raised my hat and thanked them for their efforts. 'Nothing at all,' they said politely, and the entire eight raised Ind Regiment at Camp Alger, Va, their hats and walked into the dark ness."-New Orleans Times-Democrat
